CHOOSING AN OFFICER

People Do Not Like the Action of Council.

CHALLIS AND STEWART THANKED

When They Were Elected the Charge Was Made That They Were the Candidates of the Saloon Element, but Their Votes Prevented an Ex-Saloon Man From Taking a Place on the Force.

Politics makes strange bed fellows, and many people are wondering why pronounced temperance men were found voting for a saloon man in council the other evening, but to the present time they can not place the cause of their unseemly action.

When Challis was nominated in the First ward and Stewart was selected for the ticket in the Second, there was a mighty howl that the saloon men had captured the Republican party, and all sorts of things were about to happen. Men almost wept when they thought of the awful disgrace, and their lamentations could be heard on every hand. They had fondly hoped that the candidates who ran upon a platform in opposition to the saloons would be chosen by the people, and they could not imagine what bad things would happen if these men were elected. In due time the election came, and Challis and Stewart were declared among the elect, but gave no intimation that they would demand an all night ordinance for the liquor houses, coupled with no restrictions for the Sabbath day. This was evidently a disappointment to some of the more powerful objectors to the saloon men, but they held their peace and began to wonder what was going to happen.

The first manifestation of the position held by the new members was shown on Tuesday evening when council was asked to confirm the appointment of a policeman. The failure of the fathers to place Wyman and Supplee on the force had caused no end of dissatisfaction in the city, and some men were anxiously awaiting the next move in council. It was rumored on Tuesday that Whan would get the place and that he would have the full vote of council. Some of the other candidates were uneasy, although one of them was heard to say that he did not believe Whan, who but a few weeks ago was behind a bar selling liquor, could get the approval of Kent, Horwell and Owen, three pronounced temperance men. The edict having gone forth that Challis and Stewart would support the saloon man, no one thought of them failing to support the East End man. But they counted without knowledge. They did not know that even the avowed friends of temperance could tumble and twist like any other political contortionists, and that it was possible for them to be elected on one platform and in a little over a year be found fighting on another side of the question. They were not conversant with the fact that even in council there are agreements and trades, and men occasionally do that which is not in accord with their avowed policy in order to gain some other point. When the name of Whan appeared as an applicant for a position on the police force the other evening, Kent, Horwell and Owen voted to confirm Whan when his name was called, and Stewart and Challis voted against him. The position of the councilmen was reversed. The men who were believed to be upon the side against the saloon men were found voting for them, and the other side were battling on the other side. Perhaps Members Kent, Horwell and Owen can explain their position to the satisfaction of the public. It may be that they can show that the people have been mistaken. Possibly the voters who placed them in office, and the people who have supported them since they first occupied places in council, are laboring under a delusion and a snare. Possibly these members have never been upon the side of temperance, and the general public has been so far off the actual condition as to make them laugh playful little laughs in their sleeve. Who knows but what the vote for Whan is the indication that the city has been hoaxed for one long, dreary year of councilmanic error. The position plainly put shows that the applicant, a saloon-keeper until a short time ago, received the votes of what the public have looked upon as temperance men, and was turned down by those who were declared to be the champions of the saloons. All honor to Challis, Stewart and George for their bold stand on the cause of right, and let Kent, Horwell and Owen explain if they can. The proceeding is so unusual that the public wants to know just why these things be. There is always a limit. Will the members explain, or will they rest under the strain of public opinion as it is today?

HE WANTED FACTS.

Attorney McDonald Calls Down His Opponent This Morning.

The ejectment case of Samuel Pacev versus A. Adams was called in Squire Rose's court this morning and is still being argued. Mr. Adams testified that he had paid his rent until the last month, and was ready to pay what he owed when it was due. Attorney Walter Hill questioned him until Attorney McDonald, for the defense, grew weary and called him down in no gentle tones. There was fun for a while, but "Mac" eventually won his point. Pacev testified that he had ordered Adams out by authority of William Q. Deidrick, of Wichita, Kan., and W. H. Deidrick, of this city, as the latter wanted the house for himself.

Squire Rose has a monopoly on cases today. Samuel P. Haller sues William H. Thompson for $118.52 for liquor. Trial at 1 o'clock Saturday. O. R. Dickey versus Edward and Ida Palmer is a suit for wages and will be heard at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. The attachment case of E. H. Laughlin versus Kreps & Geisel for $6.09 will also be heard tomorrow.

WANTS MORE MEN.

Captain Supplee Would Like to See His Command Increased.

Captain Supplee, of Company E, is desirous of improving the command, and having a well drilled, natty looking company when they go into camp next September.

He has received his commission, and is now a full fledged member of the guard. As yet no election has been held for the position made vacant by the resignation of Lieutenant Sinclair, but one will soon be called. A number of aspiring privates, and a few men on the outside, are said to be after the place, a number of names being mentioned in connection with the vacancy. Another examination will soon be conducted for the benefit of Lieutenant Terrence, and his friends expect to see him pass, with some to spare. Captain Supplee is anxious to have the command increased by 20 men, and is looking around for good material. There will be no regular drill this evening, but all the boys who report at the armory will be given credit for their appearance.

To Mayor Gilbert.

"EDITOR NEWS REVIEW—Will you kindly permit us to address the chief magistrate of East Liverpool through your columns, as we have matters of utmost importance to communicate—matters of vital import at least to ourselves and our families? Here we are:

"Mayor Gilbert, will you kindly induce a member or members of the police force to come out Seventh street some night, about dark, and from that until 10 o'clock, and note the bad work which is carried on by hoodlums, young and old, toughs who use the vilest of vile language, profanity, vulgarity and indecent conversation of the most horrible character, and who pay no attention to the protests of ladies and gentlemen residing in the community? If the mayor will kindly attend to this matter, he will earn warm thanks from reputable citizens."

LADY RESIDENT.

Scared Him Out.

The story is abroad that the representative of an importing firm in New York came to the city the other day with the expectation of selling a bill of German china to a local dealer. Before leaving the hotel he decided to ask a few questions regarding the financial standing, and as luck would have it engaged the official of a pottery in conversation. The potter soon found why he was in town and then talked with him on the subject nearest his heart. The stranger knew they made ware in this place, but he did not know the extent of the trade, and when he saw how utterly he would fail he decided not to make the attempt, and went to Steubenville by the next train.

Gone to a Hospital.

E. B. Cunningham, the young man who has been crippled for many months, realized $125 from the benefit concert at the Grand Opera House, and left this morning for Indianapolis, where he will enter a hospital for treatment. The receipts would have been much larger had not a number of tickets been returned before the concert by those who promised to buy. Mr. Cunningham desires to express his heartfelt thanks to all those who assisted in making the concert a success. He hopes to be permanently cured by the treatment he will receive at the hospital.

MAYOR GILBERT TALKS

He Administered a Lecture to a Saloonist.

BREAKING THEIR OWN LAWS

He Told Arthur Stanway That the Liquor Men Caused the Law Prohibiting Dice, and He Could Not Excuse a Man When He Broke It—Other Cases in Police Court.

Mayor Gilbert took occasion yesterday to deliver a lecture on law when Arthur Stanway was before him charged with playing a game in his saloon, and it is possible that Arthur will not forget the lesson he learned.

Stanway told the mayor that he did not deliberately break the law, but was simply amusing himself. He was almost asleep in the barroom when John Daur, a boarder, walked in and asked for a glass of beer. Arthur wanted to shake off the spell of drowsiness that had come on him, and asked Daur to watch him while he threw three fives and a pair of sixes. Daur was in no hurry, and he watched; but there were other spectators in the persons of Officers Earle and Jennings, and they notified the men to appear. After the mayor had heard the little story from Stanway he looked grave, and volunteered the information that the saloon men were responsible for the law against dice, and that same law made it an offense for Stanway to have the dice in his saloon. He could not find an excuse for the breaking of this law, and let fall a few remarks which might mean much for the saloonkeepers in general, closing the little lecture with the remark that Stanway owed the city just $9.60 for shaking off that spell of drowsiness. Arthur declared that he did not have the money, and the mayor gave him until Saturday evening to square the account. Daur did not appear.

Patrick O'Rourke, the man who was charged by Mrs. Sarah Smith with obtaining money under false pretense, was captured by Chief Gill and locked up last night. He was surprised to know that Mrs. Smith had taken the transaction in good faith, and in support of his position told a neat little story to the mayor. He was brought to the mayor's office this morning, and said that Joseph Smith, an expressman living in the West End, had induced him to get the money from Mrs. Smith. After he had secured the amount Joseph borrowed a dollar from him, and purchased a pair of second hand shoes which he chanced to have. He was willing to return the remaining dollars to Mrs. Smith if she would not prosecute, but he thought that Joseph should be compelled to pay his share to Mrs. Smith, and make the job complete by paying him for the shoes. He pleaded hard and long, saying that he wanted to go to work, and would settle the matter to the satisfaction of Mrs. Smith, but the mayor could not see it that way, and sent him back to jail to await the coming of Mrs. Smith and Joseph.

Charles Ainsworth and James Delaney, who were charged with fighting, came in last night, and denied that they had amused themselves in this way on Saturday. The mayor questioned them closely, and as there was no evidence beyond the meagre details of the charge, decided that they were not guilty; but during that time he found that both had been drunk, and decided that he could do no more than fine each one $6.60 for that offense.

The man Quinn, who has been shaking in his shoes since he was informed that his fine could only be paid by a workhouse sentence, was delighted beyond measure when informed today that he had been given one more chance for liberty. If he would whitewash the jail and such other parts of the building as needed an extra coat he would be allowed to go. Quinn is not much of a whitewasher, but he jumped at the chance, and will soon be free.

The Ohioville individual who was arrested on Monday night for attempting to show East End what brand of bad men they raise on the border, was released last night. He had no money with which to pay his fine, but a kind friend came to his rescue, and he was released. He will know better the next time he comes to town.

The River Falling.

The river is falling rapidly and threatens to be as low if not a more shallow stream than it was last summer. The packets are still doing a fair business. The Hudson passed down last night, taking on several packages of ware, and the Bedford got the same amount, with the addition of a few passengers on her trip down last night. The Ben Hur did a light business at the local wharf on the up trip last night. The Carrollton is due up at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and the Bedford at 6 this evening from Wheeling.

Suits the Merchants.

As a result of a war among the owners of pop corn machines, Mayor Gilbert has taken a stand that no machines of any kind or fakers shall occupy the Diamond. This, of course, means the loss of considerable in licenses, but it pleases the merchants in that section of the city and will undoubtedly prove beneficial. The merchants grew weary over the corn machine row for positions and the last straw was laid on when the owners commenced to chain their wagons to the iron fence around the monument, and leaving them there so as to have the same place the next night. The monument committee take pride in keeping the place neat and fresh looking, and have already spent considerable money on repairs, but they intend to do even more this year and are getting rid of obstructions first.

For the Soldiers.

Adjutant General Howe has issued general orders for the National Guard encampment which with some regiments will be the first week in September and with others in August. The order states that the encampment will be by regiments and for six days, the colonels to decide upon dates and locations and notify the companies and headquarters as soon as possible. The orders govern the Ninth battalion infantry, Toledo cadets and First and Second troops of cavalry.

Put Them in the Pound.

There are quite a number of horses and cattle running loose about our streets and thoroughfares, and especially in the hill districts, where they are driven by their owners, who hope thus to escape the law, as they know the animals would be placed in the pound were they permitted to wander about the down town thoroughfares. The matter should receive immediate attention by our authorities, as the hill residents are terribly annoyed.

Not Building a Walk.

John M. Aten, of the West End, says that Councilman Peake is in error when he charges him with building a board walk out of poor lumber. Mr. Aten is not building a walk of poor lumber or any other kind of lumber. It is true that seven years ago he did build a board walk, and that it is now out of repair and needs attention, but since that time he has had nothing to do with the construction of board or any other kind of walks.

Albini was Gay.

Whatever he may be in the theatrical line, Albini, the magician who appeared here Tuesday and Wednesday nights, is entirely too impudent. He took occasion this morning at the local depot to "guy" C. Metsch while the latter was attending strictly to his own business and was called down by the miller. Albini seemed to have little respect for age and evidently acts on the idea that he can do as he pleases when he is about to leave town.

Interest in Base Ball.

Some of the more cranky of the base ball cranks say that the usual interest is not being shown in this city. The men who make base ball a study during the season are as enthusiastic as ever, but the great mass of people who simply show an interest are lacking. There are a few of them left, but the majority don't seem to care whether Pittsburg is in first place or on the tail end of the list. To them base ball is becoming a bore.

Will Keep an Eye on Him.

If it is true that there was no whisky in a jug at the jail it would be an excellent idea for a member of the force to learn a few lessons in veracity. The News Review was given the story by an officer, and coming from that source was taken as truth. If the officer can not confine himself to facts, and labors under the delusion that it is a nice thing to stuff a newspaper man, he may change his tune before he is much older.

Keeping It Quiet.

A divorce case from this city found its way to Lisbon the other day, but the parties concerned are keeping it so quiet that the names of the principals cannot be obtained. The charges are wilful absence. The couple have been separated five years, and have a child 10 years of age, of which the plaintiff wants the custody today.

NO NEW SCALE AS YET

Jiggermen Fail to Meet and Decide on the Jumbo.

THE NEW ONES ARE ORDERED

At Home and Abroad and Being Manufactured Here—Business Rushing at the Standard, West End and Pioneer Pottery—Notes Among the Workers in Clay.

Some of the jiggermen are wondering what will be done about a new scale.

Last night was set for a time for the regular meeting, but, like that of last week, it failed to materialize.

A well known potter stated today that he believed most of the jiggermen were willing to have a new scale adopted, but showed a lack of interest. In more than one pottery an advance had been given, he said, on the wages when the new jigger was put in position, but it was the desire to have a uniform scale so there could be no individual contracts without the knowledge of the Brotherhood. The claim is made that there is no desire to push the price up to a point that would be exorbitant, but, on the other hand, to prevent the establishment of a price that would be too low and might become general among the plants.

Mr. A. D. Viten, who is the patentee and manufacturer of the "Jumbo" jigger, which has caused the agitation, is still working on his machinery in this city. He has just completed putting in the finest jigger in the city at the Harker pottery, making three "Jumbos" in the city. He will begin work soon on placing a new style or oval jigger in the Sebring pottery, and has orders from a number of other concerns. Mr. Viten also received an order from the Maddox Pottery company, of Trenton, operating the largest pottery in the country, for a jigger of each kind. He manufactures the jiggers at one of the local machine shops, and finds ready sale for them. It is probable that every pottery in the city will be provided with one or more of the jiggers before he leaves.

Pottery Notes.

The Pioneer pottery is evidently rushed to its fullest capacity as one of the employees was in the city today looking for presses. The resumption of business at the Pioneer will be pleasing to the residents of the sister city.

The Standard pottery is running full in every department at present writing. The same news came to us from reliable authority connected with the West End pottery. This comes as good cheer, or the silver lining, under existing circumstances and the condition of the pottery trade throughout the land.

"Micky" McCann, whose funeral took place from the Catholic church this morning, was a well known potter, being last employed as dishwasher at the Dresden pottery. A number of potters attended the funeral.

Hickory Harrison, presser at the Dresden, left last night to visit among the potters in Tiffin.

Henry Harvey, who has been employed at the Dresden, has taken a jigger at the Burford plant.

Although the "Potters' Building and Hall company" has not been heard from lately, and some believe the Brotherhood building will not be a reality, some of the committee feel confident that all will be well and say that the condition of trade alone prevents workmen from investing their money.

J. M. Bursner left this morning for a western trip in the interests of the East End Pottery company.

"I think there is some improvement in the pottery trade," said a manufacturer today, "but it is not what it should be by any means. Orders are growing in size, and that is what we want, but the importers continue to get more than their share of the business. If we were not compelled to meet the villainously low prices of Isadore Strauss, every factory in town would be in operation."

Street Ball.

One resident on Fourth street, living near the new Fourth street school building, is very justly indignant over the fact that he has had four windows broken in his home residence, through the instrumentality of boys playing ball upon the street. He will cause trouble to the parents of the children designated if an immediate halt is not called.

Raising Money for the Church.

The African Methodist Episcopal church will give a jubilee concert in Bradshaw hall tonight, and the proceeds will go toward paying off the church debt.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., THURSDAY, APRIL 25.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
OF Ohio.

WHY TRADE IS NOT GOOD.

The reason why the potting trade in America is not good can be found in the following:

"David Inglis's earthenware freight and shipping circular, bearing date of Liverpool, March 29, reports the shipments for the week ending March 23, 1895, as amounting to 2,476 packages, against 798 for the corresponding week of 1894. The shipments from January 1 to March 23, 1895, amounted to 24,331 packages against 11,297 for the corresponding period of 1894. Business continues to improve. Rates steady."

THE HOSPITAL.

Now that all excuse for arguing the necessity of the hospital has passed away, it remains for the interested parties to place the project on a substantial basis with responsible men to push the plan, and lose no time in getting down to work. East Liverpool has the energy and push required to make the hospital a success, and there is no reason why it should be longer delayed. Other towns with less ability in this line have made the required effort, and have come to the front in a manner worthy the plaudits of all who had watched their course. A long pull and a strong pull will bring the project where the people want it, and united action will gather funds. If the ground owned by the city is given and subscriptions are taken, the legislature may be induced to believe that East Liverpool is in earnest, and any monetary favor shown will be appreciated, although there is a belief that the state can do nothing to help. If it can not it remains for this city to work hard and win without any other than its own good right arm.

WE WILL HELP.

The Salem News can rest assured that it has the support of the News Review in all movements that have right and improvement for their end. If there has been error in East Liverpool that error can not be laid at the door of any man or body of men, and if the present system of conducting the Republican primaries is not satisfactory to the great majority of voters in the county, the News Review will be in line asking a change with every other honest Republican journal in the county. It does not believe in dishonesty or trickery, and will never be found upon the side of those shameful institutions. The Salineville Banner says there was something wrong in the returns from Liverpool, yet it forgets there was a difference in the vote sent out from that place on election night and the tally sheet in Lisbon the next Tuesday. The same can be said of Salem, yet with all its "running of ferry boats" they can not charge that to East Liverpool. Again does the News Review assert that it will aid the Salem News in all good movements.

THE DEMOCRATIC POSITION.

Free silver is the outgrowth of Democratic sentiment, and according to the Columbus Journal the present torn-up condition of the party merely emphasizes the condition of the party on the same issue during the late and preceding congresses. In support of this it quotes the St. Louis Globe Democrat as saying that they "represent a majority of its members, unquestionably, and its record in congress on this question further justifies them in demanding that its future course shall be regulated according to their wishes. As far back as 1877 the Democrats in the house voted 10 to 1 in favor of free coinage. Again, in 1880, they voted 8 to 1 in favor of it; and in the senate every Democratic vote was cast for such a proposition. In 1891 the senate again voted on the question and eight-ninths of the Democrats voted the same way. The next year there was another vote in the house and the Democrats gave a majority of 46 for free coinage; and another vote in the senate showed a Democratic majority of 21 on that side. At other times, in various ways, Democratic support and encouragement has been given to the free silver cause with sufficient force to commit the party to that doctrine."

—Miss Sadie Knox, bookkeeper for Milligan Bros., was calling on Pittsburgh friends today.

The Famine in Manchuria.

LONDON, April 25.—A dispatch to The Times from Chefoo, published today, says that the famine in Southern Manchuria is due to the bad harvests of the past year, to the occupation of that territory by the armies of China and Japan, the stoppage of transportation by land and water and the total paralysis of trade at New Chang, the principal port of Manchuria.

An Embezzler Disappears.

WINSTON, N. C., April 25.—Ex-Cashier Holland, who swindled the Merchants and Traders' National bank of Charlotte, has disappeared. Holland's shortage is between $60,000 and $75,000. Covering in his property and his bond, the bank expects to sustain a loss of from $15,000 to $20,000. He was allowed freedom on the promise that he would not leave.

The Commissions Signed.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The president has signed the commissions of the three Nicaraguan canal commissioners, Colonel Lindlow, Civil Engineer Endicott and Mr. Noble. The commission will organize at once and proceed to New York to examine the plans of the canal company there.

FULLER'S DECISION.

His Opinion On Income Tax Cases Made Public.

LAND WOULD BE DOUBLY TAXED

By Direct Taxation, If the Income Tax on Rents Were Allowed to Stand—Direct Tax Must Be by Apportionment. The Summing Up.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The text of the opinion of Chief Justice Fuller in the income tax case, which was delivered on the 8th inst., has been made public. The opinion is preceded by an elaborate review of the history of the case. The opinion proper is introduced with the statement that "the constitution provides that representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states according to numbers, and that no direct tax shall be laid except according to the enumeration provided; and also that all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States."

"Thus," says the chief justice, "in the matter of taxation, the constitution recognizes the two great classes of direct and indirect taxes, and lays down two rules by which their imposition must be governed, namely: The rule of apportionment as to direct taxes and the rule of uniformity as to duties, imposts and excises."

"There have been from time to time intimations that there might be some tax which was not a direct tax nor included under the words duties, imposts and excises, but such a tax for more than 100 years of national existence has remained undiscovered, notwithstanding that stress of particular circumstances has invited at different times investigation into sources of revenue."

By far the greater part of the opinion is devoted to the consideration of the question whether a tax on rents is a direct tax within the meaning of the constitution.

The chief justice then takes up the condition of the country and the circumstances that existed at the time the constitution was framed and what was recognized as a direct tax at that time. He then reviews the decisions of the supreme court from that of the Hilton carriage case down to and including the Springer case in 1861, which was largely relied upon by the government counsel to sustain their contention in the income tax cases, and in all these cases it is conceded that taxes on land are direct taxes, and in none of them is it determined that taxes on rents or income derived from land are not taxes on land.

Summing up, the chief justice says among other things: "The requirement of the constitution is that no direct tax shall be laid otherwise than by apportionment—the prohibition is not against direct taxes on land, from which the implication is sought to be drawn that indirect taxes on land would be constitutional, but it is against all direct taxes—and it is admitted that a tax on real estate is a direct tax. Unless, therefore, a tax upon rents or income issuing out of lands is intrinsically so different from a tax on the land itself that it belongs to a wholly different class of taxes, such taxes must be regarded as falling within the same category as an annual tax on real estate, the name of the tax is unimportant. The real question is, is there any basis upon which to rest the contention that real estate belongs to one of the two great classes of taxes, and the rent or income which is the incident of its ownership belongs to the other. We are unable to perceive any ground for the alleged distinction. An annual tax upon the annual value or annual use of real estate appears to us the same in substance as an annual tax on real estate, which would be paid out of the rent or income. This law taxes the income received from land and the growth or produce of the land. Mr. Justice Paterson observed in Hilton's case 'land, independently of its product, is of no value'; and certainly had no thought of direct taxes were confined to unproductive land."

"If it be true that by varying the form the substance may be changed, it is not easy to see that anything would remain of the limitations of the constitution, or of the rule of taxation and representation so carefully recognized and guarded in favor of the citizens of each state. But the constitutional provisions cannot be thus evaded. It is the substance and not the form which controls, as has indeed been established by repeated decisions of this court."

"It is not doubted that property owners ought to contribute in just measure to the expenses of the government. As to the states and their municipalities, this is reached largely through the imposition of direct taxes. As to the federal government, it is attained in part through excises and indirect taxes upon luxuries and consumption, generally to which direct taxation may be added to the extent the rule of apportionment allows. And through one mode or the other, the entire wealth of the country, real and personal, may be made, as it should be, to contribute to the common defense and general welfare. But the acceptance of the rule of apportionment was one of the compromises which made the adoption of the constitution possible and secured the creation of that dual form of government, so elastic and so strong, which has thus far survived in unabated vigor. If, by calling a tax indirect when it is essentially direct, the rule of protection could be frittered away, one of the great landmarks defining the boundary between the nation and the states of which it is composed, would have disappeared, and with it one of the bulwarks of private rights and private property."

"We are of the opinion that the law in question, so far as it levies a tax on the rents or income of real estate, is in violation of the constitution, and is invalid."

Comparatively brief space is devoted to the question of a tax on the income derived from municipal bonds. "The constitution," says the opinion, "contemplates the independent exercise by the nation and the states, severally, of our constitutional powers. As the states cannot tax the powers, the operations, or the property of the United States, nor the means which they employ to carry their powers into execution, so it has been held that the United States has no power under the constitution to tax either the instrumentalities or the property of a state. A municipal corporation is the representative of the state and one of the instrumentalities of the state government. It was long ago determined that the property and revenues of municipal corporations are not subjects of federal taxation."

After reference to the decisions, the opinion proceeds, concluding as follows: "The law under consideration provides that nothing herein contained shall apply to states, counties or municipalities. It is contended that although the property or revenues of the states or their instrumentalities cannot be taxed, nevertheless the income derived from state, county and municipal securities can be taxed. But we think the same revenues of the state or their instrumentalities exists in relation to a tax on the income from their securities and for the same reason, and that reason is given by Chief Justice Marshall in Weston vs. Charleston, where he said: 'The right to tax the contract to any extent when made must operate on the power to borrow before it is exercised, and have a sensible influence on the contract. The extent of this power depends on the will of a distinct government. To any extent, however inconsiderable, it is a burden on the operations of government. It may be carried to an extent which shall arrest them entirely. The tax on government stock is thought by this court to be a tax on the contract, a tax on the power to borrow money on the credit of the United States, and consequently to be repugnant to the constitution.'

"Applying this language to these municipal securities, it is obvious that taxation on the interest therefrom would operate on the power to borrow before it is exercised and would have a sensible influence on the contract, and the tax in question is a tax on the power of the states and their instrumentalities to borrow money, and consequently repugnant to the constitution."

OUR NEW GENERALS.

The Brave Merritt Succeeds McCook, Colonel Bliss Promoted.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—General Weale Merritt, whose appointment as major general of the army, to succeed General McCook, retired, has been announced, was born in New York and entered the military academy from Illinois in July, 1855, and graduated July 1, 1860. He served throughout the war and was presented with his command at the capitulation of General Lee's army at Appomattox courthouse, April 9, 1865, and was one of the three commissioners appointed to arrange the terms of surrender. After the war he gave honorable service and received promotions several times. He was superintendent of the United States military academy from Sept. 1, 1882, to June 30, 1887, and was in command of the Department of the Missouri to July, 1891, and of the Department of Dakota, which command he holds at present. Of the great cavalry leaders of the Union army which the war produced, viz: Sheridan, Cooke, Pleasanton, Grierson, Stoneman, Wilson, Merritt, Kilpatrick, Custer, Buford, Gregg and Devin, General Merritt is the only one still in active service.

Zenas R. Bliss, appointed brigadier general, is now colonel of the Twenty-fourth infantry at Fort Bayard, N. M. He was graduated from West Point in 1854, and had an honorable war service. He was breveted major at Fredericksburg, and lieutenant colonel at the Wilderness for gallant and meritorious service, and colonel of the Twenty-fourth infantry April 30, 1886. Colonel John J. Coppinger, Twenty-third infantry, has been made brigadier general.

The Queen Attends a Christening.

DARMSTADT, April 25.—Queen Victoria attended the christening here of the daughter of the Grand Duchess of Hesse, formerly Princess Victoria Melita of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, daughter of the Duke of Edinburgh, second son of her majesty. The baby is the 70th direct descendant of Queen Victoria, who had nine children, 40 grandchildren and 21 great children. Sixty-one of these descendants are living.

Strikers Win Their Fight.

TRENTON, April 25.—Samuel K. Wilson, the millionaire woolen manufacturer, whose employees have been on strike for the past seven weeks for the restoration of the second 10 per cent reduction, made in their wages last fall, has met a delegation of the striking weavers, and consented to their demands. The mills will resume operations next Monday.

Tillman's Brother-in-Law Killed.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 25.—John C. Swearingen, a brother-in-law of Senator Tillman and ex-Congressman, was killed in a duel with George Tillman, brother of B. L. Jones. They met in a trial justice's office where Jones' son was to be tried on a charge preferred by Swearingen, when a quarrel ensued.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

Morris Hopkins (colored) was hanged at Richmond, Va., for the murder of S. H. S. Parsons.

Henry Watterson emphatically denies a report that he will become editor of the Chicago Times-Herald.

In a London court Earl Russell was granted a decree of separation from his wife on the ground of cruelty.

There is great activity in the Ishpeming iron ore district, and an increase of wages is expected about May 1.

HUMPHREYS IN CLEVELAND.

He Says the Republican Clubs' Convention Will Be a Great One.

CLEVELAND, April 25.—Secretary A. B. Humphrey of the National League of Republican clubs is in the city in conference with the committee in charge of arrangements for the coming convention of the league, in Cleveland in June. He says he is assured that it will be the greatest and most important convention of the league yet held, for present indications point to a large attendance of delegates and visitors.

It has been decided to introduce an innovation at this convention in the shape of one open session, at which free discussion on all political questions will be permitted. This, it is believed, will furnish an opportunity for a lively fight over the silver question. Information has been received to the effect that a special train will be sent from Chicago. A boat load of representatives will also come from Duluth. Denver will send a train load of silver boomers. There will also be a special train from Pittsburgh, one from Iowa, with the celebrated Iowa State band, another from Louisville, Nashville and Cincinnati; one from Philadelphia, another from Indiana and still another from New York. A special boat will also be run from Buffalo.

The invitations to address the convention have already been accepted by ex-Senator Warner Miller of New York, Hon. J. S. Clarkson of Iowa, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster of Washington, Governor McKinley, Hon. John M. Thurston of Nebraska, ex-Governor Foraker of Ohio, Hon. A. B. Cummins of Des Moines and Senator J. C. Burrows of Michigan. It is also expected that Senators Allison, Walcott and Teller and Chancellor M. Depew will accept the invitations which have been extended to them. The committee has decided that Congressman Boutelle of Maine should preside at the banquet to be given to the delegates.

Locomotive Firemen Organize.

CINCINNATI, April 25.—At a meeting of delegates from the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia, district organization was effected as follows: Master, John J. Hanahan, Chicago; vice master, T. F. Roberts, Newark, O.; past master, W. F. Milliken, Indianapolis; secretary, William Dodge, Cincinnati; chaplain, D. L. Dubant, Hinton, W. Va.; outer guard, Charles Paul, Bluefield, W. Va.; conductor, N. C. Hoag, Columbus; warden, B. O. Chalk, Covington, Ky.

An Ohio Pioneer Dead.

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 25.—Thomas C. Busby, a pioneer, residing near here, has died, aged 80. Mr. Busby has the honor of introducing Governor McKinley to the first political meeting he ever addressed outside of his own district. The speech, an experimental one, proved a stepping stone to success. Mr. Busby's father was a quartermaster in the war of 1812, and his grandfather a revolutionary soldier. His five surviving sons are all prominent newspaper men.

Injured by a Falling Elevator.

CLEVELAND, April 25.—An elevator in a new building being constructed on Huron street fell three stories, a distance of 60 feet and four workmen on the car were more or less injured as follows: Alexander Dombroski, back and hip crushed; Charles L. Hubbard, leg broken and back badly injured; Fred Bundy, ankle broken and internal injuries; Albert Lawrence, ankle sprained.

A Suit For $125,000.

ELYRIA, O., April 25.—Mr. H. E. Mussey, the millionaire landowner and banker here, who was the partner in the late firm of G. A. Budd & Co., extensive hide dealers, which recently failed with liabilities amounting to about $300,000, has brought suit against his former partner, Mr. George E. Budd, to recover the sum of 125,000 claimed to be due for money advanced.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Mrs. James Ford, of Sunnyside, is ill with the grip.

A runaway horse aroused residents of Fourth street yesterday afternoon.

R. H. Prudence, a well known resident of East End, has moved with his family to Second street.

John George, with a party of assistants, were in St. Clair township today surveying the Smith farm.

Engineer George was locating the street and alley lines at the Frederick property on Third street today.

Extensive repairs are being made to the residence of Colonel Vodrey at the corner of Robinson and College streets.

The Patriotic Sons of America will initiate eight candidates at the meeting tonight. The new order is having great success.

Fishermen say that some of the best catches in years have rewarded their efforts this year. Little Beaver is becoming a popular resort.

Manager Frank Swaney received a large consignment of telephones last night, and they will be placed in position as soon as possible. The phones are new.

The Goodwin pottery ball team have decided that they want to win fame and glory on the diamond, and will play any pottery team in the city. Grant Myler is the manager of the team.

Mrs. Robert Warton, of Ralston's crossing, received a telegram stating that her father was dying at his home in Cambridge. She left for that city this morning accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Sherman Cooper, of Wellsville.

Word has been received here that Miss Alice Griffith, of Fourth street, is ill at Braddock. The young lady was stricken with typhoid fever while employed there in a millinery establishment. Her condition is not dangerous.

Arch Neal, of Neal's station, who is well known in this city and Wellsville, will sell all his farm effects and leave soon for California. He expects to take his family there for residence, having visited that country every winter and becoming more than pleased with the climate.

J. Wiggins & Co., the Columbus printers who propose to issue a directory for this city, will have men at work in a few days. Unlike the people who made a canvass here a few weeks ago, they propose to put out a directory for East Liverpool, while the other is for Columbiana and Stark counties.

An employe of Thompson's pottery was discharged yesterday afternoon because he was caught helping himself to ware. The practice has reached such proportions that the officials found it necessary to use stringent measures and the man lost his place. Other potteries in the city have suffered from a similar cause.

The average dog has a hard row these nights, his life being made a burden by the wheelmen who throng the streets. One luckless canine was killed on Sixth street last night, and another had its leg broken on Broadway. The last to fall under the wheels of a machine was a mongrel residing on West Market street. One rider was thrown when he ran down the dog, and wears an extra bump in consequence.

The largest traveling crane ever built passed through the city eastward bound last evening. It filled six cars, and is a marvelous piece of machinery. To the present time the big crane at Washington has been the largest in the world, but this piece of electrical machinery so far eclipses it that there is no comparison. The crane was made by the Morgan Engineering company at Alliance.

The Odd Fellows of Canton are making strenuous efforts to make the meeting of the grand lodge and the dedication of the new temple a success. A vast deal of work has been done, and it is expected that members of the fraternity from all parts of the state will be present. Some of the local lodges are endeavoring to get enough of the members to attend the meeting to secure excursion rates.

The many friends of a prominent physician are winking and smiling when he appears among them, and dropping all sorts of hints about the sin of a fine looking man living alone when he can have a wife for the asking. In short they have heard that he will soon take a life partner. In the person of a charming young woman whose home is not so far from Liverpool that he is deprived the privilege of seeing her occasionally.

There is a marked scarcity of houses in the city, particularly in the suburbs where the applicants are more numerous than the roofs to cover them. East End and West End are suffering from the trouble, and families who prefer the suburbs are moving into the central part of town. A shrewd resident of East End remarked today that if he could command $10,000 he would invest every cent of it in residence property in that part of town.

Albini a Loser.

Less than 50 people greeted Albini, the magician and his troupe at the Grand last night and at least one-half of the crowd had passed. This was even larger than the audience of the preceding evening, but the play went on just the same. George Cunningham, Little Rubie and Nellie Maguire in songs and dances pleased all, while the Renos in tumbling were excellent. Albini was somewhat nettled at the size of the crowd, but said that since he had heard that some people said the show would not be as good as on Tuesday night he would make it even better. He did so as far as his tricks were concerned, and amused and mystified his hearers. Albini exposed some of Hermann's card tricks to the satisfaction of the audience. The show merited a crowded house, and just why the performance was ignored by the many theater goers is not clear. It is probable that the people are weary of 10, 20 and 30 cent shows, having had some here not worth looking at, and once being deceived, they will pay no attention to a good cheap show. But this is not the fault of the people.

Didn't Eat Soap.

He was a stranger in the city and he looked about the city hall for the mayor yesterday afternoon until he grew weary. Then he approached Clerk Hanley and said:

"Mister, are you clerk of courts?" The clerk said he was just plain city and township clerk and could sport no frills.

"Well I want to know what that 'ere pure food law is" continued the stranger.

Clerk Hanley looked up the matter and was wondering what the man wanted when the stranger remarked:

"I s'pose that don't apply to soap does it?"

A smile went round as the clerk answered, "not as I know of. There ain't very many eating soap now except those that are hard up." The stranger turned away, not appreciating the humor, but did not catch the remark that "if the law applied no more to soap than soap had been applied to his face it would be null and void." He was a traveling soap agent and was afraid he would be compelled to label his wares.

They'll Never Know.

A resident of Irontdale was in town today, and said that nothing would ever be known about the death of Rogers, who was murdered, according to the coroner's inquest. In Irontdale they cannot believe that the man came to his death by accident, but there is no one to push the case, and the mystery gives promise of remaining a mystery.

Good Luck to Him.

Ex-Postmaster H. L. Simms has assumed the local agency of the Equitable Life Assurance society of the United States, and will commence active operations in the immediate future. The society is a splendid one, and its advantages will be fully portrayed by our townsman, who will push business affairs in the manner for which he is so well fitted. Watch out for card in daily tomorrow. The NEWS REVIEW, in company with a host of friends of our ex-postmaster, wishes him success in his enterprise.

ISAAC FONDERSMITH.

Threatened With Famine.

Wellsville is in trouble, and the busy house-wives go to the cold water tap day by day expecting to find that the water supply is gone. The cause lies in the fact that one pump has already given out, and the other is on its last legs. For years these pumps have been compelled to do more work than their maker intended, and the result is danger. Should the pumps break down the town will be without water for weeks.

A Well-to-do Copper.

What is one man's misfortune is another's good luck, at least it seems so on the street car line. Ex-Police-man Supplee is handling a motor on the electric line, and Motorman Morgan will soon leave off his uniform for a new one. He will in all probability be one of the new Wellsville police. His name will go before the council in the sister city, and as he is well liked there it is expected that he will be confirmed.

Another Route.

Of late the Cleveland and Pittsburg company has manifested a disposition to run all their fast trains over the Fort Wayne road from Alliance to Rochester, and as a result there is much complaint. Should the arrangement prove permanent, as it promises to become, it will be taking an unfair advantage of travelers along the line, who will not get the use of the trains recently put on.

The Irish Champion.

The Irish champion, Peter Maher, surrounded by his many admirers, the "Adonis" of the prize ring will make his first appearance in this city on next Saturday evening at the opera house, and it is safe to say that the sports will turn out en masse to greet the Irish champion. Maher has wisely surrounded himself with one of the strongest companies in the world.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist church at River Junction she was brought down with pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at T. L. Pott's drug store. Regular size 50 cents and $1.

Sixth Street Improvement.

The bids were opened this morning for the improving of the property on Sixth street, occupied at present by James E. Orr, and owned by J. C. Thompson. The J. T. Smith Lumber company was awarded the contract. The improvement will add much to that portion of the thoroughfare.

Call It a Craze.

AN ALARMING STATEMENT
CONCERNING WOMEN.

HOW BAD HABITS ARE FORMED.

The New York Tribune says: "The habit of taking 'headache powders' is increasing to an alarming extent among a great number of women throughout the country. These powders as their name indicates, are claimed by the manufacturers to be a positive and speedy cure for any form of headache. In many cases their chief ingredient is morphine, opium, cocaine or some other equally injurious drug having a tendency to deaden pain. The habit of taking them is easily formed, but almost impossible to shake off. Women usually begin taking them to relieve a raging headache and soon resort to the powder to alleviate any little pain or ache they may be subjected to, and finally like the morphine or opium fiend, they are unable to make them regularly, imagining that they are in pain if they happen to miss their regular dose."

In nine cases out of ten, the trouble is in the stomach and liver. Take a simple laxative and liver tonic and remove the offending matter which deranges the stomach and causes the headache. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are composed entirely of the purest, concentrated, vegetable extracts. One Pellet is a dose; sugar-coated, easily swallowed; once used, always in favor. They positively cure sick headache and remove the disposition to it.

Mr. E. VARGASON, of Otter Lake, Lapeer Co., Mich., writes: "I not infrequently come on an attack of the headache. It usually comes on in the forenoon. At my dinner I eat my regular meal, and take one or two of Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets immediately after, and in the course of an hour my headache is cured and no bad effects result. I feel better every way for having taken them—not at all. After taking other kinds of pills, 'Pleasant Pellets' are worth more than their weight in gold, if for nothing else than to cure headache."

QUAY AFTER HIS ENEMIES.

A Motion Offered in the Pennsylvania Legislature to Lexow Philadelphia.

HARRISBURG, April 25.—The municipal affairs of Philadelphia are likely to be investigated by a senate committee. Senator Penrose has sprung his expected resolution in the senate, providing for a committee of five to be appointed by the president pro tem, to investigate the charges that the councils of the Quaker City are influenced by powerful combinations to obtain suitable franchises and privileges without adequate compensation to the city. It was referred to the committee on judiciary.

Senator Penrose is regarded here as one of Senator Quay's representatives, and after David Martin rebelled against the leadership of that gentleman and refused to support Senator Penrose's candidacy for the mayoralty, it was rumored that the latter would at once offer a resolution calling for an executive inquiry into the methods by which contracts and franchises in Philadelphia have been distributed among certain favored persons and corporations. This was looked for in the latter part of February, but the matter had been allowed to hang fire so long that the resolution had almost the effect of a bombshell.

It will be remembered that soon after the defeat of Mr. Penrose for the nomination, Senator Quay, snarling under the defeat he had received at the hands of David Martin, arose in his place in the United States senate, and without mentioning the name of Mr. Martin, severely arraigned that gentleman as the paid representative of a corporation which had ordered the defeat of Mr. Penrose. Senator Quay is coming here from Florida early next week, and it is expected that his early arrival had something to do with the offering of the resolution at this time.

A Woman Made Garbage Inspector.

CHICAGO, April 25.—Mrs. Jane Adams of Hull House, Civic Federation and Municipal Reform fame, will, in the future, wear the official star of the city department of public works under the lapel of her jacket. She has been appointed garbage inspector in the Nineteenth ward by Mayor Swift and began today devoting herself to watching the movements of the contractor for removing garbage and cleaning the streets in the district west from the Chicago river to Throop street.

Spain Will Grant Our Demands.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Secretary Gresham has received a dispatch from Mr. Hannis Taylor, United States minister at Madrid, assuring him that Spain would accede to the demands of the United States in the Alliance affair, and that Captain Venadito would be put on trial for his offense in firing at an American vessel outside the zone. The tone of the dispatch is such that the state department feels that its course will be absolutely vindicated by the result.

TROOPS TO BE LANDED

England Will Wring the Indemnity From Nicaragua.

CUSTOMS HOUSES TO BE SEIZED.

The Limit of Time Allowed Nicaragua Expires Today—Diplomats Fear It Means Also a Forced Collection of Interest Due Foreign Bondholders.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Exact official information has been received as to Great Britain's belligerent steps in Nicaragua. British troops are to be landed at Corinto. The customs houses are to be occupied by the British forces and British officers are to exercise the functions of collectors of customs. At the same time Nicaraguan local commerce is to be crippled by a blockade. The limit of time allowed Nicaragua to yield expires today and the blockade, landing of troops and seizure of customs houses is to begin immediately thereafter. There is good reason to believe that Nicaragua is not likely to yield, but will allow British troops to occupy Corinto in order that conspicuous attention may be drawn to what is regarded by Nicaragua as an invasion of the Monroe doctrine.

It is a significant fact that the largest part of Nicaragua's foreign debt is represented by bonds held in London and payable there in 1919. This foreign debt aggregates $2,165,225. The London holders have thus far received their interest on the bonds very promptly. If, however, Nicaragua is crippled by the seizure of her customs receipts, it may react by a failure to meet the interest on the bonds held in London.

The diplomatic representatives of the Central and South American Republics are very much disturbed by this feature of the case, the meeting of bond obligations for their fear that it opens a vista of endless trouble and aggression in the future. Their idea is that once Great Britain has been permitted without interference to collect this special indemnity, she will avail herself of the excuse offered by the failure of Nicaragua to meet her interest payments on her foreign debt, to assume the task of collecting this forcibly in the same manner, notwithstanding the fact that the failure may be brought about by her own seizure of the customs receipts, which were to be applied to the payment of this interest.

Of course this would necessitate the occupation of Corinto after the original indemnity shall have been collected, which would only add to the financial distress of Nicaragua and should she be then able, as seems likely to meet this last demand, the occupation may be prolonged so indefinitely as to amount to a permanent occupation of the territory. This is the reasoning of the South Americans, and they find individual cause for apprehension in the fact that almost all of these little republics owe sums of money to European bondholders.

The outcome of this Nicaraguan incident is also felt by the same diplomatists to be full of significance to Venezuela, and it is feared by them that having once driven in the wedge Great Britain can scarcely be expected to refrain from pressing forward with very vigorous measures in the matter of the Venezuelan boundary dispute, and at once establish herself as the mistress of the Orinoco.

UMPIRE LYNCH'S RESIGNATION.

President Young Issues a Statement Denying His Course.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—President Young of the National League has issued a card in regard to the resignation of Umpire Lynch, in which he says: "Last Saturday night I received a long telegram from Mr. Freedman, requesting me to remove Mr. Lynch from New York and send another umpire to umpire Monday's game. This I positively declined to do, and in reply to Mr. Freedman I sustained Mr. Lynch and expressed the utmost confidence in his ability and integrity. I also told Mr. Freedman that in view of his large financial interest I could not do him a greater wrong than to simply comply with his request. I also expressed the very decided opinion that the life of the game depended upon the umpire, in enforcing the rules and laws which have received the unanimous approval of every league club. Certainly Mr. Lynch could not have asked for any stronger approval or endorsement from me, but my refusal to change him before he had completed his series."

"On Monday I wrote him to go to Baltimore and commence umpiring on the 24th. Tuesday morning I received a telegram from him asking that he be vindicated by remaining in New York the balance of the week. I thought, and still think, that he had received all the vindication that was at all necessary for the purpose of good discipline, and to show the league umpires that in the discharge of their duties they are certain to be sustained. I declined to accede to Mr. Lynch's request, for good business reasons. He then resigned, and within an hour his successor was appointed and is now on his way to Washington."

Miss Julia Peel, daughter of Viscount Peel, late speaker of the house of commons, has been married to Mr. Rochfort Maguire, the young Parnellite who represents the West division of Clare in the house of commons and who has become very wealthy through his connection with the Hon. Cecil Rhodes, premier of Cape Colony, and of the Rothschilds.

Brighton Table Salt.

The phrase, "It is the Best," when applied to Brighton Salt means something; an assertion that is truthful, and a fact which can be proved by scientific analysis. Brighton Salt is the most perfect article of its kind ever manufactured; more lustrous and beautiful than any other. It is pure and wholesome, while a large bulk of the salt sold is impure and dirty. A tablespoonful of Brighton
Table Salt dissolved in a glass of filtered water, produces a brine as clean and clear as a crystal. Any other test made will prove its purity, hence its value for general household purposes, and for making butter and cheese.
